Banking Law: Hong Kong SAR and the People's Republic of China

Authors: IA Tolley, et al.
ISBN: 9780409998290
Format: Looseleaf service available in print (3 volumes);
 Online; Lexis Red™

Known internationally as a banking hub, banking is an important and high-profile practice area for lawyers and in-house counsel in Hong Kong. This work aims to provide a comprehensive source of information on the law and culture which has influenced the practice of banking in Hong Kong. Banking Law: Hong Kong SAR and the People's Republic of China contains extensive commentary on banking in Hong Kong and the PRC, including international regulations of banking activities in Hong Kong for both the practitioner in private practice and those within the banking industry. This work also features relevant Ordinances with detailed annotations, Hong Kong case law and other primary materials. The sections on international banking controls, consumer credit and banking in the PRC respond to the ever-increasing economic interaction between China, Hong Kong and other international players.

Hong Kong Civil Court Practice

Authors: WS Clarke, PY Lo, Michael Wilkinson
ISBN: 9780409999143
Format: Looseleaf service available in print (2 volumes, 6 binders);
 Online; Lexis Red™

The first standard reference on civil procedure in Hong Kong, Hong Kong Civil Court Practice provides a comprehensive commentary on Hong Kong civil litigation in two looseleaf volumes across six binders.

Hong Kong Civil Court Practice Volume 1 is the original reference work on the rules of the High Court, having first published in 1994. The commentary in this work reflects the civil justice reforms which were implemented in April 2009. The focus is, and will continue to be, on decisions of the Hong Kong courts. This work contains commentaries, annotations, forms and a complete reference to the High Court Ordinance, Court of Final Appeal Ordinance, District Court Ordinance, Rules of the District Courts, Family Courts as well as the Practice Directions. Written by leading Hong Kong practitioners and academics under the editorship of WS Clarke and PY Lo, this publication serves as both a localisation and interpretation for Hong Kong of information previously found only in English sources, greatly simplifying the practice of civil litigation in Hong Kong. Relevant extracts are taken from our sister publication in the UK, The Civil Court Practice, Editor-in-Chief Lord Neuberger of Abbotsbury (House of Lords and non-permanent judge of the Hong Kong Court of Final Appeal). This publication is updated throughout the year to include the latest relevant legislation and cases, and serves as an essential tool for every Hong Kong litigation lawyer.

Hong Kong Company Law: Legislation and Commentary

Authors: ELG Tyler, Stefan Lo
ISBN: 9780409998528
Format: Looseleaf service available in print (3 volumes);
 Online; Lexis Red™

Company law has been in a state of rapid change in many parts of the world over the last decade. The emphasis on change reflects the modernisation of corporate law ideas which can often be traced back to the late nineteenth century. Company law reform also ensures the facilitation of business efficiency, imposing the lowest possible costs upon corporate activity.

The Hong Kong Company Law: Legislation and Commentary includes a full and comprehensive annotation of the new Companies Ordinance (Cap 622) which came into operation in March 2014 after a complete rewrite. This rewrite provides a modernised legal framework for the incorporation and operation of companies in Hong Kong, with the aim of enhancing corporate governance, ensuring better regulation and providing better facilitation of business operations. Key changes in Cap 622 include the abolition of par value shares, restricting corporate directorship in private companies, offences relating to contents of auditor's reports, enhancement of auditor's rights, abolition of memorandum of association and matters relating to company articles, deregistration and restoration, among many others.

Hong Kong Company Law: Legislation and Commentary is structured according to the format of the new ordinance consisting of 21 Parts, 11 schedules, and retains Companies (Winding Up and Miscellaneous Provisions) Ordinance (Cap 32). The looseleaf service is aimed at providing periodic updates as to the working of the new legislation in place as well as discussion and commentaries on relevant case law for both Cap 622 and Cap 32.

Hong Kong Corporate Law

Author: Paul Kwan
ISBN: 9789888054701
Format: Looseleaf service available in print (4 binders);
 Online; Lexis Red™

Hong Kong Corporate Law is a comprehensive work presented in a systematic, user-friendly and reader-focused manner. It bridges the gap between introductory materials and specialised practitioner tools which offers both a solid foundation on the subject and a thorough discussion on practice. It provides up to date references on all primary and subsidiary legislation, practice notes and authoritative case law from HK and UK with relevant legislation in associated fields.

The set also includes the latest updates to corporate law in its most comprehensive presentation in relation to practice, including: legislation in associated fields relating to companies, such as partnership, insolvency, capital maintenance and corporate finance, directors duties and accountability; shareholders rights and enforcement issues; financial disclosure; accountancy and audit provisions; securities; corporate transformation and restructuring; and liquidation and winding up. It also covers areas of practice that are unique to Hong Kong, like the corporate veil, meetings, minority shareholders and rights, directors' rights and duties and many, many more.

Hong Kong Construction Law

Author: JA McInnis
ISBN: 9780409997835
Format: Looseleaf service available in print (3 volumes);
 Online; Lexis Red™

Hong Kong Construction Law provides a clear, practical and comprehensive commentary on the subject of construction law in Hong Kong. This title is the first work in Hong Kong to provide depth of coverage in this important area, taking into account the multi-jurisdictional nature of construction law in Hong Kong.

The authors have also included discussion on unreported decisions which equally contribute to the breadth of coverage in this area of law. Chapters address, among other issues, formation of contract, terms, payment and performance, certificates, non-performance and excuse, breach, claims, remedies, assignment, guarantees, bonds and collateral warranties, insurance, alternative dispute resolution, PADS and project structures. The appendices include a detailed comparison of the HKIA and RICS Forms of Contract to the JCT 1963 and 1980 Forms. The text is also updated to include an introduction and discussion of the NEC3 forms which have been recently adopted in various pilot projects in Hong Kong to enhance efficiency in contract management.

Whether used as a reference tool and sourcebook or for explanations of current topics and issues, Hong Kong Construction Law is a much-needed practical guide for legal practitioners, architects, engineers and surveyors as well as consultants. Lecturers and students of construction law, architecture, surveying and engineering will also find this work an essential resource.

Hong Kong Conveyancing: Law and Practice

Authors: Judith Sihombing, Michael Wilkinson
ISBN: 9780409996654
Format: Looseleaf service available in print (2 volumes);
 Online; Lexis Red™

"... so far as Hong Kong land law and conveyancing are concerned, the need for a comprehensive and definitive work has now been met. This work will prove to be invaluable to conveyancing practitioners." – The Hon Mr Justice Godfrey JA

20 years on, Hong Kong Conveyancing: Law and Practice still provides a clear and detailed presentation of the law and practice of conveyancing in Hong Kong. Unique in its breadth of coverage, this title is the standard reference for anyone indeed involved in conveyancing transactions saving research time and cost: an essential reference for legal practitioners, bankers and property developers.

The two volumes provide detailed but accessible commentary on the law and practice of conveyancing in Hong Kong as well as a vast array of cases and materials. They comprise essential primary materials, including extracts from the Conveyancing and Property Ordinance, other relevant legislation, and instructive reported and unreported decisions.

Criminal Evidence in Hong Kong – Third Edition

Authors: Andrew Bruce, Gerard McCoy
ISBN: 9780409997583
Format: Looseleaf service available in print (1 volume);
 Online; Lexis Red™

"The authors are to be commended on their organization of the material and its succinct presentation of the rules and authorities. The publication will be seen by many as the way to commence research on points of law which may be obscured in some of the larger or more theoretical texts." – Malayan Law Review

Criminal Evidence in Hong Kong – Third Edition is an authoritative, up-to-date reference work for legal practitioners, lecturers and students. The coverage of fundamental principles of evidence in criminal law is presented in a practical and concise manner, contained within a single binder. The authors make extensive use of not only the Hong Kong and English cases relevant to the topic but also authorities from other parts of the Commonwealth. This book also contains references to areas where the Bill of Rights has affected the law of evidence.

Criminal Procedure: Trial on Indictment

An excellent companion work to Criminal Evidence in Hong Kong – Third Edition

Author: Andrew Bruce
ISBN: 978040999830
Format: Looseleaf service available in print (2 volumes);
 Online; Lexis Red™

Criminal Procedure: Trial on Indictment sets out the law relating to procedure during trial or other disposal of indictable offences. It deals with trial on indictment before the High Court and the District Court with the aims of providing certainty and facilitating access to the law of criminal procedure.

Particular emphasis has been accorded to those topics with which a criminal law practitioner must contend with on a frequent basis. Such topics include enforcement proceedings, arrest and detention, bail, indictments and charge sheets, trial of indictments before the High Court and trial of proceedings transferred to the District Court, appeals, reviews and costs in criminal proceedings. The text also provides an overview of the criminal legal system in Hong Kong. Statutes governing criminal procedure in trials on indictment and practice directions applicable to criminal proceedings are included for reference.

Encyclopaedia of Hong Kong Taxation

Authors: Andrew Halkyard, Wilson Chow, Susan Leung
ISBN: 9780409996340
Format: Looseleaf service available in print (3 volumes);
Online; Lexis Red™

The Encyclopaedia of Hong Kong Taxation provides the most comprehensive, authoritative and regularly updated reference on the taxation system in Hong Kong. This extensive three-volume set provides quick and easy access to Stamp Duty in Volume 1 and Taxation of Income in Volumes 3 and 4.

This work is designed and intended to be of practical use not only for lawyers, but also other professional advisers and to all those interested in taxation. The title includes conceptual text, detailed annotations to the legislation, a complete set of practice guides, notes and forms, and provides the reader with clear guidance as to the content of the newly amended laws of stamp duty and profits tax, peculiarities of its practice and suggestions of how to avoid the pitfalls.

While this work deals primarily with Hong Kong taxation matters, the authors have researched case law and legislation in many other jurisdictions, and therefore to a significant extent is one of comparative tax law.

This title is a unique and definitive work of authority on taxation and will be of fundamental use to accountants, tax consultants and legal practitioners, as well as bankers, corporate and property planners, estate agents, businessmen, civil servants, academics and students.
